Balloons, and not ball rooms, floated down on the assemblage at the Willard Friday night, and everybody was happy. We enjoyed the prom, for we are the sole person on the campus with an unshattered reputation after the advent of The Petticoat. In fact, we weren't even mentioned, which is a boon to a bashful soul such as we.

We understand, by the way, that frosh are cutting out that photograph on the front of the yellow sheet, and pasting it in as a part of the "picture" notebook in Dr. Ragatz' course in European History. They believe in covering history from every possible angle.

Kansas City bewails the loss of James E. Pixie, the new Colonial athletic mentor, who will arrive in Washington sometime in May to learn the ropes in preparation for fall. Their loss, our gain, you know.

Monopolies are popular at George Washington in every line of endeavor, so it's not to be wondered at that this man Dorsey should win the oratorical contest again. He won against stiff competition, and ought to win again out at Catholic University in the District of Columbia finals in a few weeks. Then after that contest he will go to the regional contest, and from there to Los Angeles, we hope.

The Deans of Men, our recent guests, discovered a lot of things during their sojourn. The organization should be rewarded for one thing, if for no other. It is, we believe, one of the first groups to hold that the present generation is not going to the dogs. The deans say that things really aren't as they used to be, but they add a fervent "Thank heaven for that."

Somebody told us that Dean Doyle wasn't sure about college men and women not being collegiate until he wrote to 400 colleges to find out, and we believe he knew it all the time, and was just kidding them along.

They, so to speak, raised hell with hell week, which is a step that the national organizations of national fraternities have been taking with remarkable regularity recently. While such weeks are not carried to extremes on our own campus, it will be a move away from high school pranks when the institution is abolished altogether.

The 1929 football team is called out for spring practice beneath dogwood and cherry blossoms in a California-like climate (including the rain) in preparation for the arduous schedule ahead of them. Now if some way were devised to elect eligible men from parked autos on G Street, or from the pool at Black Pond, we might even have a light work-out or two.

"Better late than never" seems to be the adage adopted by the varsity debaters. They objected to the abolition of trial by jury, and their objection was sustained, so they have won a debate—the first of the season in victories, and the last of the season chronologically.

Time we graduate a few more lawyers and send them to Chicago, there won't be any more criminals out there. A few of them ought to stay in Washington.

George Washington gets the first eastern chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman honorary fraternity established to reward scholarship among the first year men. Makes us wish that we were frosh again, although the Registrar's Office will tell you that our freshman grades wouldn't allow us a chance at joining, unless the sun and moon were to fall.

If we had Phi Beta Kappa now, that would be another fraternity which we couldn't join.

The Liberal Club goes to Baltimore to a convention. Say this bunch acts like a regular group of Rotarians. There doesn't seem to be anything unusual about them. What kind of a Liberal Club is this?

These Columbian Debaters are publicity hounds. They debated the football issue to draw crowds, and now they turn themselves into a senate for their next meeting. Most people wouldn't brag about it.

And we wonder if the cloture rule will be applied to discussion, or whether the janitor will have to put them out with the lights.

A new car has been added to the G Street line to annoy Dean Henning and his classes.

These riflemen and rifewomen of ours could do us a real service by executing the birds out front.

G. W. U. CHAPTER OF PHI ETA SIGMA INSTALLED APR. 10

National Honorary Freshman Scholarship Frat Installs Local Chapter

NATIONAL OFFICERS, AS WELL AS LOCAL, SPEAK

Provost Wilbur and Dean Doyle Also on List of Noted Speakers

The installation of the George Washington University Chapter of the National Honorary Freshman Scholarship Fraternity, Phi Eta Sigma, took place on April 10 in the Cabinet Room of the New Willard Hotel. This exercise marked the official recognition of the chapter at the George Washington University and also added this eighth chapter to the Fraternity.

The exercises were opened at 8 o'clock by the president of the local chapter, Richmond T. Zoch, who welcomed the Grand President of the National Board, Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, Dean of Men at the University of Illinois, together with G. Herbert Smith, National Secretary, and Hugh Graham, President of the Illinois Chapter. In his address, Zoch extended the warm greetings and the hospitality of the members to the visitors.

In response to this address of welcome Dean Clark expressed the hope of cooperation between the chapters and then proceeded to stress the aims of the fraternity and its reason for existence.

Dean Clark, speaker, "High scholarship and good fellowship can go hand in hand," he said, "and it was for this reason that the original chapter at the University of Illinois was formed. The Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity was the first fraternity of an honorary nature to bestow scholastic acknowledgment upon students while still in college. It places honor where it can do the most good, and that place is in the early part of college stay. Not only does this system foster a sense of good fellowship but it also serves to increase scholarship standards among the fraternity's members."

At the conclusion of Dean Clark's address, Zoch assumed the duties of Toastmaster and introduced G. Herbert Smith, National Secretary and Assistant to the Dean of Men at the University of Illinois. Mr. Smith also lauded the spirit of the chapter and commended its zeal in scholarship fields.

The President of the University of Illinois Chapter, Hugh Graham, spoke next.

"There is one thing," he said, "that you will get from Phi Eta Sigma, and that is an incentive. While a machine does not need an incentive for continued good work, yet we are not machines, and consequently incentives are necessary to us for initiative and ambition. If congratulations are tendered to men they will work harder. I extend to you, therefore, the congratulations and good wishes of the Illinois Chapter."

The first of the after-dinner addresses was made by the Provost of the George Washington University, William Allen Wilbur.

Compared with Royalty

Provost Wilbur compared the Royal family of England with the Honorary Fraternity and showed that, whereas the former fostered a spirit of respect for law, the latter accomplished the same result for high scholarship. He commended the Fraternity's ideals and concluded: "Scholarship is your incentive and I wish you great prosperity in the traits you are forming at this time."

The officers of the local chapter were called upon for extemporary speeches.

Dean of Men, Henry Gratton Doyle, faculty adviser of the local chapter, concluded the after-dinner addresses. In speaking of the Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, he said: "The fact that Deans of Men and of Colleges are interested in fostering a fraternity of this kind shows that such an organization is both necessary and beneficial. I am delighted, therefore, to have on this campus an honorary fraternity of this sort."

The final exercise consisted of the installing of all the members and the installation of the chapter. The officers of the George Washington University Chapter of the Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity are: Richmond T. Zoch, president; Hugh K. Clark, vice president; L. Stanford Baker, secretary; and Gordon McBride, treasurer.

The first annual banquet of the School of Engineering was held in the Chinese Room of the Mayflower Hotel on Saturday evening, April 13, 1929, with President Cloyd Heck Marvin extending the greeting of the administration. About 170 students, alumni, members of the faculty and prominent engineers attended.

The banquet was engineered by a committee composed of representatives from the several engineering societies and fraternities. James L. Fox, of the student chapter of the A. S. E. was business manager, and Watson Davis, C. E., '18, acted as toastmaster.

Lapham Presents Token

Dean John R. Lapham presented a token of friendship and esteem to Prof. J. H. Platt, who is leaving the University at the end of this year, from the students of mechanical engineering.

Col. Harry H. Blee, chief of the airport section of the Department of Commerce, reviewed the development of aerial transportation in this country and in Europe.

Wallace Delivers Address

Dr. L. W. Wallace, executive secretary of the American Engineering Council, delivered the principal address. He spoke on engineering leadership.

"Men of science are being looked to as leaders and as long as they maintain their integrity of ability and character there is no limit to which they may go in the leadership of civilization," Wallace said.

The program was rounded out with dances by artists of the Thayer Studio and dances by the Misses Shomo and Welch.

WOMEN GREEKS' PROM HIGHLIGHT OF SEASON

Cups Awarded Gamma Beta Pi and Chi Omega; Petticoat Appears

The Panhellenic Prom of George Washington University held at the Willard Hotel, Friday, April 12, was one of the most successful events of the social season.

About three hundred couples danced to the music by McWilliams' orchestra from 10 until 2 o'clock.

At 12 o'clock Virginia Mitchell, President of the Panhellenic Council, presented a cup to Gamma Beta Pi for winning the sorority basketball championship and another cup to Chi Omega for victory in the sorority Bridge Tournament.

At the beginning of intermission the Petticoat scandal sheet, published by Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic fraternity, was put on sale.

Balloons were floated down on the dancers when dancing recommenced and the girls getting lucky numbers found favors, which were evening handkerchiefs within the balloons.

The patrons and patronesses of the Panhellenic Prom were President and Mrs. Marvin, Dean and Mrs. Hodgkins, Dean Rose, Dean and Mrs. Doyle, Provost Wilbur, Dean Henning, Miss Henning, Dean and Mrs. Borden, Dean and Mrs. Van Vleet, Dean and Mrs. Lapham, Dean and Mrs. Ruediger, Dean and Mrs. Bradley, Secretary and Mrs. Kayser, Dr. and Mrs. Bolwell, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, and Miss Cooper.

The committee in charge of the Prom consisted of Marjorie Bowman, chairman, Myrtle Crouch, Margaret Rees, and Evelyn Pierson.

G. W. Accredited By University Women At Convention In South

Recognition Entitles Women to Full Membership With Association

President Cloyd Heck Marvin, of the George Washington University, announced yesterday that the University has been notified of its accreditation for membership in the American Association of University Women at the meeting of the Association, held in New Orleans, La., April 12.

Admission to the Association entitled women graduates of the University to hold full membership in the Association and all of its branches in the United States and abroad, and gives formal recognition to the University as an institution which offers to women complete opportunities in higher education.

Credit for the success of George Washington's application for membership is due in large measure to Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., who as a woman member of the Board of Trustees, has interested herself in the University's behalf. As an associate member of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Evans has been able to give to the alumnae of the University an understanding of the aims of the Association, and to its membership an appreciation of the work accomplished by the University.

Mrs. Evans has been active in the Association, having served as member of the Committee on Public Relations, and as such was Chairman of the Foreign Relations dinner during the national convention held in Washington, which was attended by the ambassadors of the five great powers. She is now chairman of the Annual Guest Committee of the Association, which has to do with the selection and recognition of distinguished women whom the Association designates for annual guest privileges.

COLUMBIAN WOMEN RAISE OVER $10,000

Mrs. Wiley Announces $1,000 Gift From Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Detroit

Announcement that the Columbian Women had gone "over the top" in their effort to raise $10,000 for the building fund of The George Washington University was made last Thursday night at the twenty-first annual banquet of the organization.

Mrs. Harvey Wiley, president, told of gifts received during the last few days totaling $1,850, including $1,000 from Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, of Detroit; $100 from Mr. Emile Berliner; $100 from Mr. Howard Goodhart, of New York City; $100 from Dr. Harvey W. Wiley; $25 from Mrs. Charles Stanley White; $20 from Mrs. William J. Mallory and $500 from "a friend of the University."

Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., trustee of the University, as hostess of the evening offered a greeting to the largest group that ever has assembled for a Columbian Women banquet.

Madame Dehuchi, wife of the Japanese ambassador, Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, wife of the President of the University, and Mrs. Larz Anderson, were the honor guests for the evening, with Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor as speaker of the evening.

In graceful recognition of the presence of Madame Dehuchi Mrs. Anderson wore the decorations which have been bestowed upon her by the Imperial Government, including the Japanese Red Cross medal, the Japanese Red Cross Order of Merit, the Order of Merit of Japan, and third Class Order of the Crown.

Following Mrs. Grosvenor's very interesting talk on Japan, which was illustrated with pictures taken on her recent trip to that country, Mrs. Anderson gave a greeting and told a bit about the country; her impressions of which she has recorded in her delightful book, "The Spell of Japan."

Madame Rita Rozada, Spanish contralto, gave a program of "Song Silhouettes," pleasing particularly with her "Card Song" from Carmen, which was given in true operatic style. Her Song Silhouettes strongly bring out her national characteristics of vehemence, charm and a sense of spontaneous dance forms.

The George Washington University Drama Club presented an extremely clever and amusing farce, "Suppressed Desires," with Mary K. Crowley, C. Oscar Berry and Virginia Frye in the cast, which kept the audience in an uproar.

Miss Judy Lyeth of the Caroline McKinley dancers, completed the program with a delicate and colorful rainbow scarf dance. Burrus Williams accompanied Madame Rozada and Miss Lyeth.

DEAN OF WOMEN, ANNA ROSE, SENDS IN RESIGNATION

Is Also Associate Professor of Education; Resignation Effective in June

HAS ACCEPTED POSITION IN CARNEGIE FOUNDATION

Alumna of George Washington; Member of Educational Organizations, Chi Omega and Sphinx

Anna L. Rose, Dean of Women and Associate Professor of Education in the University, has resigned, effective at the end of the present academic year, to accept a post as staff assistant with the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It was announced at the University today.

Dean Rose will make her headquarters in New York and will travel in Pennsylvania in connection with a study being made of the relation between secondary and higher education. This study has been undertaken at the request of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania State Department of Education, with the cooperation of the Carnegie Foundation and is one of the most interesting experiments in education being conducted at the present time.

G. W. Alumna

Dean Rose is an alumna of The George Washington University, having received the degrees of A. B. and A. M. She has done graduate work at Cornell and is now engaged in work toward the degree of Ph. D. which she expects to receive from Columbia University within a year. She has been associated with The George Washington University since 1921, when she became registrar for the Department of Arts and Sciences. In the spring of 1922 she was made Dean of Women and has served in that capacity since. Prior to her association with the University Dean Rose taught in the Pennsylvania State Normal School. During the World War she was active in war work and in 1918 came to Washington as educational director of the local Y. W. C. A.

She is a member of numerous educational organizations, including the American Association of University Women, the National Association of Deans of Women, the National Association of College Teachers of Education and the National Education Association. G. W. U. ALUMNA STOPS CRIMINALS' ACTIVITIES

Mary G. Connor Given Full Credit in Breaking Up of Unlawful Combinations

A graduate of George Washington University Law School was primarily responsible for the effective blow that was struck at the racketeers in the candy-making industry last week when 16 members of an unlawful organization, the Chicago Association of Candy Jobbers, were found guilty of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws by fixing prices and wrecking competition. This action was the culmination of a determined effort on the part of the Attorney General's office to break up unlawful combinations which have operated in Chicago to control various important industries.

Mary G. Connor, Assistant United States Attorney General, represented the government in this action, and was given full credit for the victory in a press dispatch which appeared in Washington papers April 12. Miss Connor came to Washington in October, 1922, following her graduation from New York University. She received her LL. B. degree from George Washington in 1925 and within a short time was appointed Assistant U. S. Attorney General under Colonel William Donovan.

In a recent number of Collier's appeared a story relative to the valuable services this distinguished alumna has rendered in the interests of fair business methods by her successful attempts to combat the vicious activities of the racketeers. It is interesting to note that a woman lawyer was chosen for this difficult task.

While attending law school Miss Connor took an active interest in student affairs. She is a member of Phi Delta Delta legal sorority. Her home is in Washington, but much of her time is spent in Chicago.

ANNA L. ROSE

In losing Anna L. Rose, Dean of Women and Associate Professor of Education, the University is losing one who has done much to further everything connected with the women students of the college.

She came to George Washington at a time when women had little or no place in the extra-curricular activities offered. Since she has been here, and due in great part to her interest and activity, the present large and efficiently run Physical Education Department has developed. She personally learns to know every freshman woman, and by her frequent individual conferences with them helps them to become an integral part of the life of the University. She has established the Mothers' Day program, which is an annual event at the University, to enable the mothers to obtain an idea of the conditions under which their daughters are acquiring an education. These are only a few of her achievements.

An alumnus of G. W., she has taken a deep interest in the University and her resignation will be personally regretted by the many who have learned to know and admire her.

A STUDENT UNION BUILDING

Why no school spirit? Consider this picture: The women of the University find a common meeting place in a few rooms of an old residence, unless they gather in sorority rooms, where, after all, only small cliques feel at home. The lot of the men is even worse. True, the law students possess a lounging room, but the men in other divisions of the University must center their social life in a bare, uncomfortable basement room in Building 5, or else congregate on the cement campus. Bad weather drives them away from the campus to neighboring stores, or to their own homes or rooms. There is no campus life as such for them. Some central place is needed where men and women may gather and talk, and plan, and loaf. It is through such actions that much may be derived from college away from the classrooms.

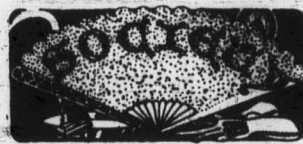

Of all publications on the campus, only The Hatchet possesses an office worthy of the name, and while it is thankful for that privilege, yet it must be said that its office is not centrally located. The Cherry Tree, The Ghost, and the Wig must walk up flight after flight of stairs to meet in places where no one but staff members would ever dream an office would be placed. Offices of University officials and professors must be drafted into service on the publication dates of these papers if sales are to be made efficiently.

Twenty student organizations must meet this week in classrooms in which no one of them will feel comfortable, simply because classrooms were not designed as places for business and social meetings of student activities. Rooms are assigned willingly for their meetings, but even here the desirable rooms are issued on the first come, first served plan, and if two organizations wish a room with a piano for the same night, complications arise.

The dramatic organizations of the University must meet and rehearse in Corcoran Hall or the Gymnasium, where Freshman Rhetoric and Basketball are far more at home. Debaters have the choice of the same rooms for events of international importance.

The Hatchet respectfully suggests that what the University needs is a Union building, where students may center their activities at work or at play, so to speak. The Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, and the four publications should have offices there. A number of rooms should be provided for meetings of organizations. One room with a small stage would be a valuable asset. Comfortable lounge rooms would be welcomed.

And if all these things were present, The Hatchet believes there would be less talk about that intangible "school spirit" and more of it actually in evidence here at George Washington.

Cues, Curtain Calls and Clinches

By STAGE DOOR JOHNNY

COLUMBIA

The hit of the season, apparently, "The Broadway Melody" continues its run and went into the third week at Loew's Columbia Theater. Its story bares the lives of two sisters from the "sticks" who go to New York with the expectation of securing a part in a Broadway production through the aid of the older girl's boy friend, Charley King. He gets them into the show, but it is the younger sister who scores in it and King falls in love with her. The girl sees it and tries to discourage him by going out with men whose reputations are not so good. The older sister finally realizes the truth and then pretends that she never cared for him at all except for what she could get out of him. This relieves him from what he regards a moral responsibility. He rescues the younger sister from a wild party and marries her, while the older sister takes a new partner and goes back to play the "sticks," broken hearted.

PARLE

In "The Wild Party," which deals with the loves and caprices of flaming youth, Bow is required to develop an "American" inflection and manner in her speech, and she is said to do the near-slang dialogue with a discerning intelligence that will be a pleasant surprise for those who have never heard her voice before.

The added features include new Vitaphone presentations, Miss Marcelle, popular comedienne, in Southern synopsized songs and Harry Hollingsworth and Nan Crawford in a short laughable sketch of a sleepy husband and a nagging wife, entitled, "Bed-time."

FOX

Both Victor McLaglen and Clyde Cook appear in McLaglen's latest starring picture, "Strong Boy," at the Fox Theater this week.

"Strong Boy" is described as a smooth, fast comedy with a simple love story student with farcical situations that revolve about a railroad newsboy (played by Leatrice Joy), who tries to infuse a baggageman with pep, personality and promotion.

The stage program marks the inauguration of the Summer policy of the Fox, bringing back as a feature the 39 Fox Melody Masters, with Leon Branstoff conducting.

LITTLE THEATER

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson's classic South African picture "Simba" is being shown at the Little Theater this week.

For four years Mr. and Mrs. Johnson ledged the hot and dangerous country of British East Africa in search of material for their cameras and objects for their guns. During that time they became fast friends with the natives of the land, learning their language and living their lives. By no means is "Simba" an ordinary film, made at the direction of a man-ned-megaphone. The picture is replete with battles between natives and the wild animals who daily threaten their lives. "Simba" is really a photographic record of one of the most noted hunts for wild beasts and studies of native life in the wilds of Africa that has ever been made.

METROPOLITAN

"The Canary Murder Case" is the current screen attraction at Crandall's Metropolitan this week.

Six men are suspected of the murder of the flashing Broadway chorus queen, the Canary. One person killed her, but circumstances and motives are established during the investigation of the crime which point to each of six men as the murderer. Then the mystery seems to clear when the Canary's chorus girl friend is accused of the murder, a motive established and clues uncovered to prove her connection with the murder, but de-

Now Finds Sad World Young Again

DREAMS THAT COME TRUE

I am sitting alone in my room tonight, dreaming and smoking my old cob pipe.

I smoke and dream, and dream until I get a plot, and get a thrill.

I am in the writing game, you see; And the pipe dreams softly bring to me Scenes of carnage where the red blood ran.

And the dreams all come from a bright blue can.

It's just a can of Edgeworth-cut— Fragrant as flowers—sweet as a nut; Of all Fate's kindly gifts to man Is this gift of dreams from the bright blue can.

I sit me down at eve; to smoke; And soon am wrapped in a magic cloak; It has banished trouble, it has banished pain.

And the sad old world is young again.

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW. AND THE PAUSE THAT'S COMING MAY NOT BE SO REFRESHING AS SOME OTHERS WE KNOW OF.

The moral is to avoid situations where it is impossible to pause and refresh yourself—because whenever you can't is when you most wish you could. Fortunately, in normal affairs there's always a soda fountain or refreshment stand around the corner from anywhere with plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola ready. And every day in the year 8 million people stop a minute, refresh themselves with this pure drink of natural flavors and are off again with the zest of a fresh start.

K. A. Wins Again

"Bubby" Terry's long hit, scoring Clegg and Ferguson, gave K. A. the edge over the Phi Sigs last Sunday in a brilliant 3-1 pitchers' duel. The winners scored early in the game when Marshall singled Conner home in the second. With the score tied 1-1 in the fifth, however, Terry sewed the game up when he droyed home both runners with a long bingle. The Phi Sigs' only tally came in the fourth, when Gray scored from third on a squeeze play with Glover on the other end. Although allowing two more hits than his opponent, Ferguson kept them well scattered and was never in danger, with well-nigh perfect control.

T. U. O. Routs Sigma Chi

Slugging out fifteen hits in their first start, the T. U. O.'s handed the Sigma Chis their second walloping of the season when they were returned victors in their inaugural 18-6. The Theta Ups piled up five runs in the second and nine more in the third to give them a 14-0 lead before easing up. Pomeroy led the attack with four hits, while McGrew's homer with two on base featured. "Lefty" Fulmer, hurler for the winners, pitched the first five innings and struck out ten men.

Theta Delt's Take Another

With Dick Battle again pitching marvelous ball, the Theta Delt's took their second victory of the season, when they trounced the lowly Sigma Nus, 15-2. Battle, striking out twelve men, brought his strike-out record up to thirty in two games, having fanned eighteen Sig Alphas in his opener a week ago Sunday. The

SPRING PROGRAM OFFERED WOMEN

Varsity Competition Offered in Tennis as Major Sport
And Track Meet

TRACK MEET IS POSTPONED

Annual Golf Tournament Will Be Played Off for Women in May

Ample opportunity for participation in sports is offered to University women by the wide program of spring sports offered by the Department of Physical Education, which has been inaugurated during the past week.

The elective system offering sports for gym credit to freshman and sophomore women allows students to follow their own interests in athletics and make their choice from track, archery, tennis, swimming, riding and golf. Sports taken up by the varsity during the spring season are tennis and swimming, the former taking major place and the latter minor.

The interclass track meet has been postponed from April 27 to May 11, to allow a longer period of time for training of entrants. Contrary to a previous announcement, the women's meet will be held independently of the men's competition.

The program, as yet tentative, will include dashes, shot-put, discus throw, broad jump and high jump, as well as the annual intersorority relay race. Entrants in sorority relays are required to turn out for practice at Seventeenth and B Streets between 1.00 and 2.00 on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Thirty-two entrants are enrolled for university instruction in golf, which is held on Wednesday and Friday, from 1.00 to 3.00 on the East Potomac Golf Course.

The annual golf tournament will be played off in May, the winner of which will receive an individual trophy from the Women's Athletic Association. This contest was won last year by Caroline Plugge.

The physical education program for the year will end officially at the Women's Athletic Association banquet on May 25. The program for spring sports is:

Track—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 1.00 to 2.00.
Archery—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 2.00 to 3.00 (Ellipse).
Tennis—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 1.00 to 2.00.
Swimming—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 4.00 to 4.30; Tuesday and Friday, 8.00 to 8.30 (E Street Pool).
Life Saving—Hours to be arranged.
Riding—Hours arranged in Gym office.
Golf—Wednesday and Friday, 4.00 to 3.00.

Alverson, Crumley, Turnbull, Albert,
Dending and Folsom Receive
Major Letters

At the annual basketball dinner, held at the Tally-Ho Tavern on Wednesday evening, April 10, which brought to a close a successful season for the women basketballers, major and minor awards were presented to members of the squad.

Major awards were made to the following: Maxine Alverson, manager; Naomi Crumley, captain; Jenny Turnbull; Dorothy Albert; Julia Dending and Evelyn Folsom.

Minor letters were awarded to Louise Berryman; Martha Benenson; Marion Lum; Jean Sime; Neve Ewin; Betty Zimmerman; and Mary Sproul. Mary Sproul was appointed manager of the varsity squad for the season of 1929-30.

Dean Rose, guest of honor at the dinner, spoke to the group on changes in women's athletics since she had attended the University and since she had been associated with the faculty of the University.

A speech by Mrs. Russell, director of women's athletics, was a tribute to the work accomplished in furthering women's athletics by Dean Rose as Dean of Women.

Commenting on the past season, Miss Eugenia Davis, coach, said she was very well satisfied with the work of the team.

G. W. FINISHES FOURTH IN RIFLE CHAMPIONSHIP

All hopes of annexing the national indoor collegiate rifle championship went glimmering for the G. W. rifleman last Saturday when three teams beat them out on the Colonial range. INTERCLASS AND INTERFRAT TRACK MEET IS APRIL 20

Combined Meet Under Auspices
Of Men's G. W. Club and Interfraternity Council

INTERFRATERNITY EVENTS
INCLUDE TRACK AND FIELD

Medals Will Be Given Winners and Placers in Interclass
Competition

Entries for the first interfraternity track meet and the fifth annual interclass meet which will be held together under the auspices of the Men's G. W. Club and the Interfraternity Council at the Central High School stadium Saturday afternoon, April 20, indicate that the combined meet will be the biggest of its kind ever attempted at George Washington University.

For the first time, events other than the relay will be included in the interfraternity competition, seven track and field events being listed in all. Two men from each fraternity will be permitted to compete in each event, with intercollegiate rules, with the exception that spikes will be prohibited, governing.

Interfraternity Events

The interfraternity events will be the 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 440-yard dash, broad jump, high jump, shot put and relay. Five points will be given for each first place, three for second and one for third. All men who have had their letter in track at George Washington will be barred from competition.

Those who win or place in the interclass meet will be given medals, rather than points. The class winning the meet will be presented the Louis A. Fisher memorial trophy, while gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded second, third and fourth classes, respectively. Silver cups will be given individual high point men.

Events in the interclass meet include the three dashes, the 880-yard run, the mile run, the two-mile run, broad jump, high jump, shot put, discus throw, javelin throw and pole vault. Entry blanks may be obtained as late as Friday at the athletic department of the University.

The meet will begin promptly at 1.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

BRIDGE PARTY ON TONIGHT

The Women's Athletic Association is given a bridge party tonight in Corcoran Hall. The tickets, for the benefit of the association, are 50 cents instead of one dollar, as was previously stated in The Hatchet.

EMERA JOHNSON WINS MEDAL FOR BEGINNERS

Mary Kyle Withdraws Claim as Result of Eligibility Question in Rifle Competition

By the withdrawal of Mary Kyle as winner of the annual beginners rifle match after a question of eligibility had been raised, Emera Johnson, second in the original ranking, has been awarded the beginner's medal.

Previous shooting of Mary Kyle at Central High School raised the question of her eligibility to compete in the beginner's contest. It was at once decided that this was not a valid ground for protest, since the beginner's match was originated with the intent to lend interest to shooting among non-varsity women and newcomers to the University, regardless of previous experience.

While this protest was under investigation, it was noted by Mrs. Russell that Mary Kyle, who entered the University in February, less than a month before the beginner's match was held, had not attended two-thirds of all the rifle practices occurring since the sport started in October, as is required by the rules of the Athletic Association for interclass eligibility. Mrs. Russell feels that this rule respecting class team eligibility was written with intent to include all non-varsity competitions in women's sports, and that the spirit of the rule would make it applicable in determining eligibility for the beginner's match.

Because of this interpretation, Mary Kyle, knowing that she has a technically perfect claim to the victory, relinquished her claim to Emera Johnson, second in the original standing.

Netmen Meet W. & L. Racquet Team April 23

Edgemoor Probable Opponent; Phillips, Considine, Sickler, Staubly, Aronowsky Return

Although the first definite match on the George Washington tennis schedule is not until April 23, when the Washington and Lee netmen will be met, the Colonial team is at present negotiating with the Edgemoor Club for a match next Sunday. Captain Larry Phillips is anxious for his charges to meet the Country Club men, before tackling the collegians, and he is hoping that the proposed match may be arranged.

The Buff and Blue racquetters have been working but for the last few days and Phillips announces that the team is ready for a big year. From last year's squad, the Colonial captain can look to Considine, Sickler, Staubly, and Aronowsky to again support the G. W. colors, while several new players of proven ability have signified their intention of turning out for the team.

After meeting the W. & L. courtmen, the Hatchettes will prepare to face Army, Navy and the University of Virginia teams, all of whom appear on the 1929 schedule. The Army match is expected to prove extremely interesting, as it will be the first time that a West Point net team has ever taken a trip to meet an opposing team. Details of these matches will be announced in The Hatchet in the near future.
